

“THINKABOUTIT” THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Friday; February 8, 2008

What are you doing this weekend? Last Sunday was considered “Super Sunday” when millions of us geared up for the day by preparing all week for the Big Game. Many of us made plans well in advance for what we were going to do, where we were going to go and who we wanted to be with. Here it is another weekend and how many of us can really remember the score of the focus of our attention – the Super Bowl.

What does this weekend hold in store for us? Have we made as many plans? Have we given as much thought to what we are going to do this Sunday? No, there isn’t a big game on this weekend, but there is something even more special – a chance to worship God. Will all that excitement that surrounded a ballgame (that is over and done) be matched by a chance to worship the True and Living God? The Bible describes God as, “...the Lord your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.” (Deuteronomy 4:24). Do you think he wants to be upstaged by a game? Now, let’s ask once again, what are you doing this weekend?

Think about it! For the Madison Avenue Church of Christ; this is Charlie Wharton.
